GERMAN RIVER LINES CRUMBLING

By PIERRE J. HUSS

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY AT THE MOSELLE RIVER, Sept. 8 (11:45 a. m.) (INS)—Lt. Gen. Patton's armor and infantry forces are cracking the Moselle defense line of the Nazis through vigorous attacks and are seizing further bridgeheads across the river.

They also are strengthening the footholds which they seized six miles west of Nancy and some miles below Metz which are being held despite desperate opposition.

Signs of an early crumbling of the Nazi river positions everywhere are evident as the Germans are tugging in all of their available manpower.

Prisoners taken along this front have been identified as members of at least six separate divisions, although only elements of these organizations are believed to be facing the Yanks.

Another evidence of the desperate need of the Nazis was found in the fact that the famous officer candidate school of Metz was hastily suspended to throw hundreds of cadets into the battle as an improvised combat company.

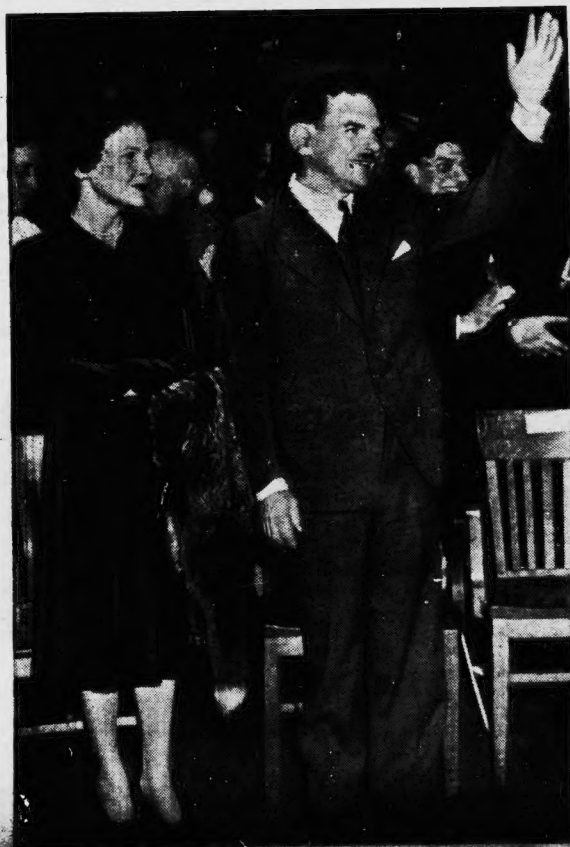

Although the final stages of the Moselle battle are becoming increasingly furious, the Americans held the upper hand throughout the fight despite intermittent bombing and strafing of strategic crossings by the Luftwaffe.

Yanks Smash Albert Lines

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower's Allied battle team broke the Albert canal line today and closed up to Liege and Metz in advances that carried to within 25 miles of the German frontier at three points along the 200-mile assault front.

Superforts Blast Japs' Manchuria Industries

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—A new Superfortress raid on the Japanese arsenal of Manchuria was announced today by the 20th Bomber Command.

The United States Army announcement said only that "important industrial areas in Japanese-dominated Manchuria" were the target.

Tokyo said:

"China-based U. S. Air Forces raided Anshan and Penhsu about 1:30 p. m. today with more than 100 planes. At least three enemy raiders were shot down. Some damage was caused on the ground."

Anshan is the site of the Showa steel works, second in importance only to the great Yawata steel plants in the Japanese homeland, which have been the target of two Superfortress assaults.

The city also produces many chemical by-products vital to Japan's war effort, including benzene, toluene, phenol and synthetic oils.

Penhsu is a coal center near Mukden.

Tokyo radio also said Allied planes had raided Canton, Manado in the Celebes, Kao in New Guinea and Mindanao in the Philippines.

Widespread Raids Play Havoc With Pacific Japs

The Pacific command announced today bombing raids in the Kuriles northeast of Japan, the second land-based strike at Marcus to the southeast, and on Iwo Island, 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Carrier planes in strong force and land-based Liberators from the Southwest Pacific joined in co-ordinated raids on Palau, eastern gateway to the Philippines 600 miles away from Davao. An ammunition fuel dump was destroyed, 17 small craft were left in flames, parked aircraft were destroyed and runways were cratered by heavy bombs.

The Berlin radio said 400 to 500 carrier-based bombers struck Palau Wednesday and Thursday and about 300 attacked Yap.

A solitary night-flying Catalina "Black Cat" extended raids over the Philippines by hitting two naval auxiliaries at Zamboanga, ancient fortress town on southern Mindanao 230 miles east of Davao. Gen. MacArthur reported his bombers ranged at will over the Moluccas south of the Philippines.

Lindy Rents Home In Fairfield, Ct.

FAIRFIELD, Ct., Sept. 8 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh have rented a home in the Fairfield County Hunt Club section of this town and a representative said the family plans to take up residence there this month. Lindbergh recently returned to this country from Hawaii and the South Pacific, where he was doing government work.

MANCHURIA—Some five score China-based Yank planes rained destruction on Anshan (in the north) and Penhsu (in the south) of Manchuria.

Japs Take U. S. Base in China

CHUNGKING, Sept. 8 (AP)—The American air base of Lingling has been lost to five Japanese divisions pressing forward in southern Hunan Province, the Chinese command announced tonight. Lingling is 75 miles southwest of Hengyang, where another American air base previously was lost, and is less than 10 miles from the border of Kwangsi province.

The Japanese, driving forward on a 60-mile front, were less than 100 miles from Kweilin, the commune disclosed.

Boom DeGaulle For President

PARIS, Sept. 8 (AP)—A new French republic founded along the lines of the U. S. government, with Gen. Charles De Gaulle installed as the first President—as "The George Washington of France"—was advocated today by a powerful federation of French Resistance groups.

This coalition—the Movement de la Liberation Nationale—would launch the Fourth Republic of France as soon as the war ends and political and war prisoners can be returned from Germany. The movement is frankly tending toward Communism, according to its backers.

3 JAP FREIGHTERS SUNK
CHUNGKING, Sept. 8 (AP)—Liberators of the U. S. 14th Air Force sank three enemy freighters totaling 8000 tons yesterday 15 miles west of Takao, Formosa, Gen. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

Completing the picture of menace to Hitler's Reich, Lt. Gen. Patch's northbound Seventh Army stabbed to within 50 miles of the Belfort gap pathway into southwestern Germany.

The Germans, stiffening in apparent desperation along the whole buffer front before the Siegfried line and the Rhine, were putting up their fiercest fight since Normandy along the Moselle river where Lt. Gen. Patton's Third Army, battling into Metz, was 20 miles from the West Wall.

Supreme headquarters announced patrols which had slipped their way into Nancy on Patton's right flank had been forced to withdraw. However, the Americans clung firmly to Toul, 11 miles to the west.

The British Second Army crossed the Albert canal near Beeringen, 27 miles northeast of Leuven (Louvaine), and smashed on five miles to the area of Bourg-Leopold, 40 miles east of Antwerp and about 25 miles from the German border.

Lt. Gen. Hodges' First Army captured Huy on the Meuse, after a new crossing 18 miles northeast of Namur, then drove on almost 15 miles to the vicinity of Liege, 23 miles from the border and 25 from Aachen, German hot spring resort and the seat of Charlemagne's empire.

It was noteworthy that neither of these thrusts—one across the Albert canal, first World War defense line, and the other deep into Belgium's greatest fort triangle—encountered more than medium resistance and no massive fortified positions.

This seemed to substantiate reports current weeks ago that the Germans had depleted much of their defense system in the low countries by transferring guns to the now-lost Atlantic wall.

South of the Liege-Namur sector, the First Army was across the Meuse almost its whole length. These advances bulged steadily into the Ardennes forest toward Luxembourg. Latest reports placed the Americans halfway across the forest region in the area of the captured villages of

Reds Slash on Deep in Balkans

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Red army slashed through the Balkans today in a three-pronged drive which promised to smash Hitler's fast weakening hold on that vital area and trap thousands of his troops by cutting all communication with the homeland.

Yanks Close In On Pistoia

ROME, Sept. 8 (AP)—Eighth Army tanks and infantry fought forward another mile on the Adriatic coast yesterday and reached the banks of the Marano river, only four miles from Rimini, but 12 miles inland the Germans, counterattacking fiercely with tanks, brought the Allied offensive to a standstill, Allied headquarters said today.

2000 Heavies Hit Reich, Le Havre

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Almost 2000 American and British heavy bombers attacked installations in southwest Germany and the besieged Nazi garrison at Le Havre today.

Advanced Russian units moved west toward a juncture with Marshal Tito's forces and Allied troops in Yugoslavia, while others advanced steadily toward the important communications center of Sibiu, Transylvania.

Official sources were silent on military operations against Bulgaria and there was no indication of any response to Bulgarian armistice pleas.

(A German report said Russian troops fanning across Bulgaria in a drive toward the Aegean sea reached Demotika, Greece, on the Turkish frontier.)

The objective of the Balkan drive is to create a steel wall from the Black sea to the Dalmatian coast and pocket all Germans in Greece, Bulgaria and Albania.

In Poland Red forces edged on northeast of Warsaw toward the southern border of East Prussia, fighting against unusually stiff German resistance, including tanks.

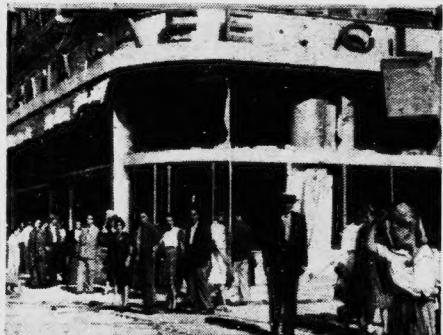

(In London the Polish Press Bureau asserted the Germans had evacuated Praga lines east of Warsaw.)

A Tass dispatch said in the Bulgarian Black sea ports of Burgas and Varna the Germans were permitted to sink 74 Nazi vessels, including seven submarines, 32 minesweepers, 25 landing barges and four transports.

ROME, Sept. 8 (AP)—Rail routes along which the Germans are attempting to evacuate troops from Greece into Serbia and Hungary have been destroyed and Yugoslavia's whole rail system is so devastated organized resistance to the Russian thrust to the Adriatic from Romania will be impossible, Allied Mediterranean air headquarters declared today.

U. S. Now Has Draft Surplus

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Selective Service said today that men already in class 1-A and new 18-year-olds can more than supply the needs of the armed forces for the rest of 1944.

NEW SPAR—Jean E. Blossom of Main st., West Barnstable, is taking her boot training at the SPAR training school in Palm Beach, Fla.

Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey estimated that 690,000 physically able men would be available for induction from those sources alone, compared with estimated needs of 600,000.

His estimates were in a letter to all draft board members giving the supply-and-demand picture up to Jan. 1.

The expected surplus of 90,000 available men might be left over for 1945, a draft official said.

Class 1-A as it stood July 1 is furnishing by far the bulk of the available. From that group, said Hershey, men are expected to be available for induction in this proportion:

18-25 age group, 345,000.
26-29 age group, 80,000.
30-35 age group, 55,000.

That totals 480,000, and to this is added 210,000 youths expected to be inducted from those becoming 18 years old (35,000 a month for the six months beginning July 1).

Although Hershey said nothing about men being reclassified from 2-A and 2-B, other draft officials were emphatic in saying such men will be reclassified into 1-A whenever their reason for occupational deferments ceases to exist.

Nevertheless, the letter will almost certainly have the effect of encouraging the boards in their lenient policy on job deferments.

Cambridge Bars V-Day Liquor

Cambridge liquor dealers announced today they would close down voluntarily on V-Day regardless of what action was taken by civic authorities.

John L. Wells, president of the Cambridge Retail Liquor Dealers' Ass'n, said the dealers were unanimous in favor of a 24-hour holiday on liquor sales.

Special instructions already are being given to Cambridge auxiliary police.

Churches of all denominations are making plans to hold special thanksgiving services.

Boston's plans will be discussed tomorrow in a meeting of clergymen, educators, business and civic leaders with Mayor Tobin at the Parker House.

The mayor already has given the opinion that Boston's observance will be a sane and sober one in view of public realization of the grim months ahead before the Japs are wiped from the Pacific.

One matter scheduled for discussion is whether or not to close the schools. Under the law, the mayor has the power to halt the sale of liquor in event of a riotous demonstration, and this is another matter to be discussed.

Lake's Eyewitness Tale of Tank Battle

By AUSTEN LAKE

WITH THE THIRD ARMY (By Wireless) — There was a skirmish line of American infantry crouched in a ditch behind a country road. They rested their rifles on the outer bank and pointed them down a slope whence came the rattle of small arms fire. There was a ragged pit in the road where a German shell had exploded a few moments before, and a soldier lay face downward in the muddy gutter, wounds welling from his naked thighs like many crimson mouths.

A pair of medics with Red Cross brassards on their sleeves dusted the wounds with yellow sulphur powder and placed gauze compresses over the red mouths. The soldier propped his chin on his arms. A scarlet drool ran from his lips, and he looked up with a strangely calm glance, making V motions with his fingers, so I lit a cigarette and held it between his lips while he sucked hungrily at the smoke and expelled it in forked jets through his nose.

There were gurgling noises in his throat as he tried to say thanks, the medic corporal said "Let 'em lie here till the captain comes" and spread an OD blanket over his legs with their red patches.

They went down the road where there were other stricken figures, one that of a French FFI in civilian clothes and wearing a brassard, who lay with eyes that stared fixedly at the sky. "He don't need no aid," said the medic corporal without emotion.

A top sergeant walked along the bank shouting: "Keep them pots down, they'll be more shells any moment."

Down the hill, a brassie shot from where we were, a stone barn burned fiercely, its mow of summer wheat sending links of flame through air vents in its walls and a silvery smoke that drifted down the rain soaked valley where U. S. tanks deployed and fired incandescent flashes of orange light.

The concussion of their fire hit our cheeks like the blow of a fist muffled in a thick pillow. Theirs was a voice of authority. Insistent whispering sounds filled the sky as our artillery shells arched overhead and exploded in yellow twinkling flashes among the woods where Nazis fought Indian fashion from tree to tree, and over all was the Fourth of July firecracker din of rifles and the staccato stutter of machine guns that went tub-tub-tub like giant typewriters spelling messages of death.

There was a brisk battle going on a quarter mile down the hill, and these soldiers in the ditch were supporting troops to cut off any Nazi flanking thrust.

War Vet Balked In Death Plunge

Suffering a mental breakdown, a 26-year-old medically discharged war veteran, smashed an attic window in his home in Beacon st., Somerville, today and had the neighborhood in an uproar for half an hour with his shouted threats to leap to the ground.

Firemen, summoned by his frantic mother, distracted his attention while Patrolmen George McDonald and William Griffin crept up from behind, seized him and, after a struggle, handcuffed him.

Bedford Hospital authorities, where he was twice treated after his discharge in April, 1943, following two years of Army service in Texas, were notified and an ambulance was sent to take him back there.

Marriage Clerks Hard to Convince

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 8 (AP)—A red-headed top turret gunner on a four-engine bomber, Cpl. Samuel F. Work, Jr., with a care-free boyish look about him, had to call in his bomber crew and a few others yesterday before he finally obtained a marriage license.

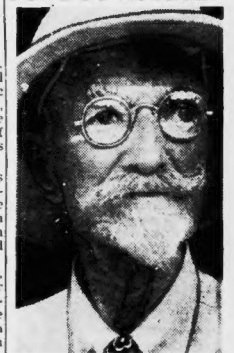

Marriage license clerks doubted his age. Cpl. Douglass Leverett of Weatherford, Tex., vouched for his partner, but that wasn't enough.

"But my gosh," he pleaded, "my girl is on the way here from St. Louis and she's due in anytime now."

Work ran out and returned with his crew. All agreed Work was 21. The clerks were impressed, but hesitated.

Finally, a telephone call was put through to Work's mother, Mrs. Samuel F. Work, Sr., at Pine Bluff, Ark., who verified her son's age. The girl, Miss Virginia Lee Frank, 18, of St. Louis, arrived. The couple was married.

Gov. Dewey to Explain His Peace Plan Tonight

By JACK BELL

EN ROUTE WEST WITH DEWEY, Sept. 8 (AP)—A world peace built on a framework of international organization in which small nations have a proportionate voice is expected to be urged tonight by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey at Louisville, Ky., in his second major presidential campaign address.

The Republican nominee closeted himself with advisers as his campaign train steamed toward politically doubtful Kentucky, after a ringing denunciation last night of what he charged was the plan of the "tired, exhausted, quarreling and bickering" New Deal to keep men overly long in the armed forces to lessen unemployment at the war's end.

Asserting that President Roosevelt's administration is afraid of America and is getting all set for another depression, Dewey told a cheering audience of 13,000 in Philadelphia's convention hall that with the winning of the war in sight, there are two great overshadowing problems.

"First," he said, "the making and keeping of the peace of the world so that your children and my children shall not face this tragedy all over again.

"The other problem," he continued, "is whether we shall replace the tired and quarrelsome defeatism of the present administration with a fresh and vigorous government which believes in the future of the United States, and knows how to act on that belief."

Announcing he would devote tonight's speech before the closing session of the National Federation of Republican Women's Clubs convention to foreign affairs problems, Dewey told the Philadelphia audience:

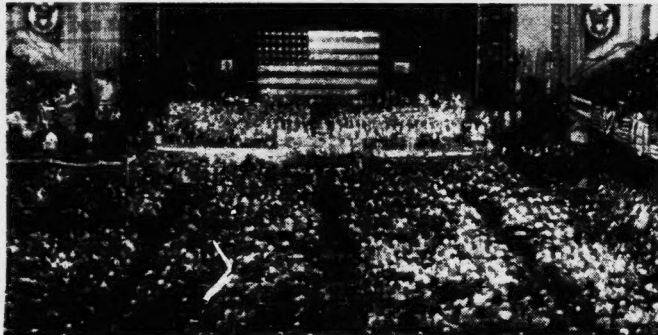

"I am deeply devoted to the principle that victory in this war shall mean victory for freedom and for the permanent peace of the world. Our place in a peaceful world can and will be made secure. But nothing on earth will make us secure unless we are strong, unless we are productive, and unless we have faith in ourselves. I have unlimited faith that the American people will choose that path next November."

Looking fresh in a gray single-breasted suit after a day of conferences and a tour through crowded streets to Independence Hall—where he poked an inquisitive finger into the crack in the Liberty Bell—the Republican nominee launched a vigorous attack on the New Deal as an administration "which has lost faith in itself and in the American people."

Dewey said that he favors the release from service of members of the armed forces at the earliest moment practicable after victory, with the occupation of Germany and Japan confined very soon to those who voluntarily chose to remain in the Army when peace comes.

Sisters Again Aid Buddies Gift Drive

Two Manchester, N. H., sisters, whose generosity and thoughtfulness brought a Christmas package to a lonely soldier in India last year, enrolled again today in the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign of the Boston American Record and Sunday Advertiser.

"Please enroll my sister Mary and I in the Christmas Gifts Campaign," wrote Ann Flanagan of Laurel st., Manchester. "Last year we sent a Christmas box through you to India and the boy was the only one who received his present on Christmas Day. The other boys all had to wait until later."

"So, if we can make a lonely serviceman happy, that will make us happy, too."

From the sister of five brothers, four of them overseas, comes this letter with her enrollment in the campaign:

"I'd like to have the name of a serviceman overseas, to send him a Christmas box of goodies and smokes. I have five brothers and they are all in the service. I'm very proud of them."

"Four of them were overseas, and one came back from the South Pacific and is now at Chelsea Naval Hospital. Two of them were in France and both were wounded within 10 days. One of them was awarded the Purple Heart and both are in a hospital in England. A fourth is somewhere in New Guinea."

"I'm proud of all our boys who are fighting overseas, and that is why I'd like the name of some boy to whom I can send a Christmas package."

The Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign is sponsored by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, and readers who wish to join this drive are urged to fill out and mail the coupon accompanying this article. All overseas boxes to boys in all branches of the service must be mailed between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15.

Gifts must be mailed in boxes of metal, wood, solid fiberboard or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard and tied with strong twine. Sharp-pointed instruments, such as razor blades and knives, must have edges and points protected. All articles in the package should be wrapped separately.

Big Three Reported Agreed on Super-Police World Peace Plan

By KINGSBURY SMITH

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (INS)—Diplomatic delegates to the Dumbarton Oaks security conference are understood today to have reached an agreement which provides, in effect, that the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China shall act as super-police to maintain future world peace.

This far-reaching agreement will be submitted shortly to the respective governments and later to the other United Nations for approval. It will also go before Congress either as a treaty or an executive agreement.

The agreement sets up a security council composed of representatives of the four big powers and several of the smaller nations.

If a majority of this council, including the Big Four members, vote to restrain an aggressor state, the United States, Britain, Russia and China will automatically assume the right to use military or naval force against the guilty nation without waiting for a declaration of war.

Under these circumstances, the big power nearest the aggressor state would be called upon to use force first. The three other major powers would be obligated to break diplomatic relations with the aggressor and impose full economic sanctions against it.

Small nations bordering on the aggressor state would be expected to assist the four major powers in restraining the aggressor.

It was learned authoritatively that Russia has taken a leading part in urging that the four big powers assume the dominant role in preventing future wars.

Blonde Model, 18, Heads for Films

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—School duties for a mother and her 18-year-old daughter are going to be delayed for a month—maybe longer—pending business in Hollywood.

Mary Lou Campbell, blonde model, left today for the movie capital for a possible leading role. She hadn't planned on trying for a movie career but won a screen test after a friend had entered her picture in a contest.

Her mother, G. Anne Campbell, a Kenosha, Wis., school teacher, who has taken a month's leave to go along, said:

"If Mary Lou comes home, she will enter the University of Wisconsin and I'll go back to teaching. But everybody says Mary Lou can't miss."

Ace Godfrey Believed Safe

When Capt. John T. Godfrey, 22, New England's ace fighter pilot, was forced into a crash landing over Europe, his buddies circled over his wrecked plane until they saw him emerge, apparently unharmed, and walk away. Then they dipped in salute and sped away.

This was revealed today in a letter from a captain at Godfrey's base in England to a mutual friend in New York, in reporting that Godfrey, who has 36 enemy planes to his credit, had failed to return.

The New York man who received it forwarded it to Godfrey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Godfrey of Edgewood, R. I., who, although disclosing that their son was thus reported missing, appealed to the War Department for official word.

The letter stated only that Godfrey crashed, but because of the speed with which our troops have been moving through occupied territory, his parents believe he may have landed behind Allied lines.

The tone of the letter also indicated the missing captain's buddies believed he was safe, and were waiting at his base in England for some word from him.

Failure of the War Department to notify them that their son was officially listed as missing was also considered an encouraging sign by the Godfrey family.

On Aug. 24, wire dispatches reported that Godfrey had destroyed four German planes on the ground at an enemy airfield.

Schools to Aid Salvage Drive

Fortcoming salvage drives in Massachusetts today were assured the full co-operation of the public schools, Boy Scouts American Legion posts and hotels.

These groups gave assurance of their support at a Massachusetts Salvage Committee meeting at WPB headquarters here as salvage leaders made plans to intensify drives for the fall and winter.

Henry J. Smith, state salvage chairman, announced that although the Bay State is counted among the leaders in producing reclaimed paper, the state's returns must be increased and everyone must do more if we are to prevent an acute shortage of paper.

Plans are announced for household collections Sunday in Woburn, Saugus and Taunton. Mayor Kane of Woburn and members of the city council there will don overalls to load railroad cars from the city trucks collecting paper.

In Saugus, with more than a 100-ton goal before them, 238 Boy Scouts and World War I veterans will conduct their most ambitious drive. Under direction of Chairmen Melbourne McLeod and John B. Leahy, 46 trucks will be loaded by air raid wardens.

Eight Army trucks from the First Service Command will aid in Taunton's drive.

80 N. E. Educators At Devens Induction

Eighty leading New England educators today witnessed induction training exercises at Ft. Devens after they were informed by Gen. Sherman Miles of the First Service Command that 60,000 school-age boys will be needed each month as replacements to maintain the Army's wartime strength.

Gen. Miles told the educators, who are attending a two-day training conference at the fort, that the Army's induction program is "a challenge to the schools to increase their efforts in aiding pupils to prepare themselves for military training."

List U. S. Ships At 2d Landing

ROME, Sept. 8 (AP)—The U. S. battleships Texas, Nevada and Arkansas supported the landings of American and French troops in southern France Aug. 15 and subsequent days, the naval command disclosed today.

Other battleships participating were the British Ramilles and the French Lorraine, which was refitted and modernized in the United States after long immobilization.

In addition to these battleships the landings were supported by 26 cruisers, nearly 100 destroyers and a host of smaller craft.

American cruisers engaged were the Augusta, Quincy, Tuscaloosa, Cincinnati, Omaha, Philadelphia, Brooklyn and Marblehead. The Tulagi and Kasaan Bay, "baby flat tops," also participated.

Newsboy Home, Air Force Hero

A Boston American newsboy until his enlistment two years ago in the Army Air Force, T-Sgt. David Sandler, 20, of Callender st., Dorchester, came home a hero today after completing numerous bombing missions with the Eighth Air Force over Germany and Occupied Europe.

Sgt. D. Sandler
part of the huge air cover which protected the invasion of Normandy on D-Day.

"They sure kept us busy," he said today. "We often went out on two missions a day."

He wears the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters and Presidential Unit Citation with Oak Leaf Cluster, awarded his bomber group for daring and excellence in its bombing missions.

Despite his hectic missions, he sustained only one injury, dislocating his left shoulder so badly that he tore his back ligaments when his B-17 was tagged by flak. He plans to undergo a corrective operation during his furlough before reporting to Atlantic City for reclassification.

Sandler for several years was a familiar figure at the corner of Boylston st. and Massachusetts ave. in the Back Bay, where he sold the Boston American.

Ration Clerk's Case May Go to Brandon

A 62-page transcript of testimony against a chief clerk in the Boston rationing board, discharged after an alleged attempt to solicit a gratuity from a Boston restaurant owner, today was turned over to the organization's enforcement division. The division is expected to seek action through U.S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon.

The clerk had been under suspension since August, when the restaurant owner charged an attempt was made to obtain $100 on the promise a complaint concerning price ceiling violations would be dismissed.

10,000 Gestapos Go Underground

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (INS)—

Ten thousand of the most brutal and most experienced men on Hitler's Gestapo staff "already have changed their names and identities," prepared to lead a Nazi underground army against the Allies, a London Daily Mail report from Stockholm, quoted on the British radio said today.

The broadcast added:

"These Gestapo men are being placed in seemingly harmless positions to escape attention of the Allies who will arrest the whole Gestapo after the occupation of Germany."

"A whole network of Nazi cells has been created, throughout neutral countries and all occupied territories and formerly occupied territories."

Finnish Peace Parley Today in Moscow

MOSCOW, Sept. 8 (AP)—A 16-man Finnish armistice delegation headed by Premier Rantti Hackzell arrived here last night and was expected to embark today on formal negotiations with Soviet government representatives.

Bulgarian armistice talks will not be held here, it was learned, and there was general speculation they might take place in Cairo, where a Bulgarian delegation previously had been negotiating with U. S. and British representatives. The head of a Romanian delegation in Moscow predicted an armistice agreement would be signed here before midnight taking his country formally out of the war.

Wife Asks Curb On Film Man

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8 (AP)—

A superior court order has been issued to restrain film producer Edward Carry Nicholson from molesting his wife, Roberta, who alleges he placed her under police surveillance and maintained a campaign of annoyance by telephone and calling in person.

Mrs. Nicholson, asking separate maintenance, alleged he has property valued at more than $1,500,000 and said his income from trust funds amounts to $1600 monthly. He was described as the grandson of the late F. Edward Carry.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Where can I write to get information regarding my deceased husband's insurance?
Mrs. L. M., Attleboro.

A—The Director of Insurance, Veterans' Administration, Washington, D. C.

Q—Am I entitled to hospitalization and doctor's care because my husband is in the Army?
I. C. M., New Bedford.

A—You are not entitled to free hospitalization, because of your husband's military service. If you are in need of assistance, you are eligible for help from either the local Soldiers' Relief (in Mass.) or the local Red Cross Chapter.

Q—Can a dishonorable discharge be removed? R. J. M., Chelsea.

A—Yes, but only by an Act of Congress.

Q—Where could I write to find out something about my son who is overseas? I have not heard from him since July.
Mrs. E. C. G., Palmer.

A—You can write to The Adjutant General, Washington, D. C., for his latest military address, or you can contact your local Red Cross Chapter and perhaps they can secure the desired information.

Q—I have five sons in the service and receive family allowance from only one. Could any of the others apply? L. R., Vernon.

A—Yes. If the fact of dependency is established by certificate, a mother may receive family allowance from more than one son.

Q—If the widow of a deceased soldier remarries, does she lose the remaining installments due her from the National Service Life Insurance payments?
B. P., Berlin, N. H.

A—No, the beneficiary continues to receive all installments due her as marriage does not affect payment of National Service Life Insurance.

Q—My brother left two insurance policies, one for my mother and one for my brother, the latter to be divided with myself and two other brothers. Can my brother be made to share his policy with us?
B. Y., Salem.

A—The government pays the money to the designated beneficiary or beneficiaries only. What they do with the money is a personal matter.

Q—My boy went in the service as a minor with my consent. He was not married. He is now missing in action. Will I receive money due him, the six months gratuity, and his insurance?
L. N. J., Brookline.

A—If a finding of death is made after missing 12 months, or less, you will be entitled to such monies as are due to his death. If you are designated as the beneficiary of his insurance policy, you will receive that also.

Q—Is a widow of a soldier entitled to a pension, even though her husband had signed over his insurance to his mother?
M. M., Montpelier, Vt.

A—Yes, if your case is adjudged worthy by the Veterans Administration. V. A. Form 534 is filed, and if death of husband was line of duty your claim will be adjudicated by the Veterans Administration.

All questions submitted to Veterans' Friend Editor, Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, 6, Mass., will be answered in the columns of these newspapers. Those desiring personal replies are requested to enclose self-addressed and stamped envelopes.

Canadian Legion To Hold Convention

Pegler to Cover Dewey's Tour

Westbrook Pegler starts digging into the national political scene as he begins his column for this newspaper Monday. He will go on the campaign tour to the West Coast with Gov. Dewey.

Pegler will be at Des Moines when Dewey makes his speech there and then go on to Nebraska, where the candidate will talk with farm belt leaders for several days.

The columnist is an old friend of Dewey's, having furnished the governor with a lot of material and information at the time Dewey was New York's racket-busting district attorney. On the governor's recent trip to St. Louis, Pegler went along.

Pegler doesn't take his voluminous writing job sitting down in an elaborate office with hordes of secretaries. He is still an old-line reporter and digs up all his own stuff without the aid of helpers or tipsters. Pegler will return from the trip with a new light on the political setup in the mid-West and Far West.

"The coming campaign is so important to everyone," said Pegler today, "that I intend to go into its every phase as thoroughly as possible. The middle West and far western sections of the country will be the keystones of the voting, and I feel that I can best get the feel of the people if I travel with Gov. Dewey."

gets an average of one letter a day from Mary Joyce.

And Pvt. Paul R. Crombie of 130 Hameset ave., Hartford, Ct., who worked for Pat McManus of the city street department and observed of the battle just below: "This here's the hottest fight we ever had."

And Pvt. Walter Schiend of 1082 South Main st., Waterbury, Ct., who brooded on the human adversity that had brought him to this roadside ditch instead of being out with Ann Dibiasse.

And Cpl. Emil Berubi of 75 Kellogg st., Fall River, a former shop toolmaker who married Eileen Sweeney June 7, 1942.

Maybe it seems fantastic that such a banal quiz should be conducted in a roadside ditch while the guns played a savage symphony a short distance away, but the boys talked eagerly of the little homilies that now seem like shadows from a half forgotten past.

And ever and anon some listening youth further down the line would yell: "Wherenhell are the Baltimore reporters?" Or, in a Southern slur: "Anybody heah fom Memphis?"

HUNTS SNIPERS

So I went away from that weird spot with a conducting lieutenant colonel, who had a Reising machine gun that looked like the grease guns used to lubricate autos and cost $12 to make.

The colonel had a lot of fun kicking open farm doors on the road back, and prowling through the hallways looking for snipers. And sometimes when he found a left behind piece of German equipment, he'd run his hand gingerly around the object for booby trap wires.

So we went on down the road where there were cows grazing amid the turmoil of battle and came to an armored half track with the painted name Cyclone on its side, and there in the turret was Pvt. Emanuel Smith of 45 Baldwin st., Pawtucket, R. I., who used to work for Stanley Clark at Collier Wire Co.

And in a neighboring field occupied by armored reconnaissance patrols, whose job is to go poking 40 or 50 miles ahead of the battle lines, was Cpl. Kermit B. Elliott of Cornish, Me., who used to wait on gents like Al Whetton and Jimmy McEnaney at Barsanti's Grill while he studied electrical engineering at Northeastern U., and Lt. William A. Knowlton, whose brother Frank lives at 427 Hillside st., Milton, and who graduated from St. Mark's in '38 and recently captured a German prisoner who claims he had done con- tortionist acts at the Barnstable Fair.

Bill is a shrewd-eyed lad with lean dust-freckled features who accepted the inherent risks of his dangerous job as a matter of course.

LOOKS AT DEATH

He seemed to consider it a mild joke on himself that only the day before he had dismounted from his half track miles inside Nazi territory and sat down on a curbstone to eat his K rations, and all the while he and his crew were under the gunshots of a concealed German 88 which apparently considered him too minor a target and waited until a pair of U. S. 15-ton tanks clattered up the street and promptly fired on them.

And Maj. Page L. Hiland of 56 Fuller st., Waltham, his wife Frances' address where she waits with Robert Bruce (6).

Then there was a Sherman tank column where I found Pvt. Leonard Sunderland of 4 Garden st.,

Boston (West End of Beacon Hill) and barely had time to get down his name before the big juggernauts rolled toward the battle lines.

And further behind, in an artillery field, there was Pvt. John S. Peterson of 89 Main st., Andover, out of Lowell Textile.

And Cpl. John F. Duffy, Jr., of 26 Gibson rd., Scituate, who used to harvest-help with Tom Dwyer.

And Pvt. Borton H. Sargood of Winter st., South Itanover, a former wool scourer.

BLEAK EVENING

Since it was the pre-mess hour, the boys scrounged some cheese and bread from the battery cook which we munched under a bush in the bleak September evening, for in these French highlands rain and biting pre-winter winds come early, as any old AEF-er remembers.

Some times, in the middle of the long motor convoys which move incessantly toward the lines, one sees a jeep flying the chaplain's flag, a large blue banner with a white cross. I pay the greatest homage to these soldiers of peace armed only with the sacred word and wearing only the armor of their faith.

Now, as I waited at a cross road, a jeep flying the chaplain's device stopped to ask road directions, and inside was Capt. George J. Brennan of St. Anthony's Parish, Providence, R. I. (the diocese of Bishop Francis P. Keough) and from a mercy jaunt some 40 miles into unliberated territory to attend six badly wounded U. S. patrolmen beyond Metz. While he was bringing them back, a German captain, lieutenant and private stepped out of the bushes and asked him please would he take them prisoner, which he did.

Johnson Asks States Rule Social Security

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—Furston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said today in a speech prepared for delivery to the Executives Club of Chicago.

Girdles to Aid Army Girls Who WACs Fat

By MARTHA KEARNEY
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (INS)—WACs who resorted to heroic measures to shave a round ton from their collective weight reduced the eternal mystery of woman today to its simplest terms—a girdle.

While complying with the order of Maj. Gen. John T. Lewis, to swing and sway, roll and thump for 15 minutes every morning, the WACs nursed a healthy grudge against the quartermaster corps.

The Army cloak and suit men unquestionably did the girls wrong. Last May they decided it was unnecessary to issue GI girdles to WACs since they could purchase them in civilian stores.

They failed to realize the first elastic girdles which American women have seen in years appeared in pictures of Paris shops.

Lacking the great equalizers, WACs naturally began to show signs of stress and strain here and there. Their Army bosses, putting the cart before the horse, decided the girls were failing to hold the line.

For several weeks past therefore the WACs under the jurisdiction of the military district of Washington have been sweating it out every morning and hopping on the scales every night.

Gen. Lewis' office has no information on the net result and WAC headquarters comments wearily that it cannot say whether or not the Women's Army Corps in the Washington area is a ton lighter.

A male officer asked about the situation over the telephone merely whistled a creditable wolf call and said he had no comment.

Slack WAC muscles may or may not be responding to treatment but the promised WPB release of girdles before Christmas will probably smooth out the difficulty and the silhouettes together.

16—Seizes American, Sept. 8 Germany

Louette-St. Pierre and Bievre, midway between Givet and Sedan.

A dispatch this morning from Associated Press correspondent Edward D. Ball said the American Third Army was moving steadily across the Moselle below Metz, although heavy German fire made progress slow and costly.

"An indication the Germans are using all available forces in the Moselle basin defense is the fact that Nazi officers from six different divisions have been captured in the U. S. bridgehead south of Metz," Ball wrote.

The Germans were hitting back with all their might, keeping up the drumming artillery fire which earlier forced abandonment of a bridgehead at Pont-a-Mousson, the Third Army's first setback since Normandy.

This was the Germans' dilemma: The Allies are moving into a position to open a major assault against the Siegfried line anywhere along the front and the weakened German army simply has not enough men to fill its last-hope defense system everywhere in strength necessary to stop such an attack.

For the Germans it is mainly a problem of disposition of reserves.

As one high Allied staff officer explained: "We have them guessing where to put them, and with our air reconnaissance we know what their guesses are."

An official announcement last night said the enemy had been cleared entirely from the historic French fortress city of Sedan. A sizeable German garrison was pocketed there nearly a week.

There was no news of the British spearhead long reported in the Netherlands, but in Belgium along the French channel coast British, Canadian and Polish forces continued their steady mop-up of isolated Germans.

Around Boulogne and Calais

land inland from Dunkirk the clean-up was moving into its final stage. The net was drawn tighter around Boulogne and Calais. The Paris radio said Canadian advance units had pushed within half a mile of Dunkirk, but this was not confirmed.

In southern France American troops of the seventh Army, pushing into Besancon after a swift advance from Arbois, were engaged in heavy fighting with Nazi forces attempting to cover the retreat of battered 15th Army remnants fleeing toward the Belfort gap, 50 miles to the north-west.

The gap—situated in the lowlands between the Vosges range and the Swiss border at the lower tip of the Siegfried Line—is the sole area where there are no mountains to block the Seventh Army's entrance to the Reich.

The Americans penetrated into the western, southern and eastern sections of Basconcon following a series of sharp fights with substantial forces of Germans employing machine guns, mortars and tanks in the first real resistance encountered on the southern French front in several days.

There was no official confirmation here of reports from abroad that elements of the Seventh Army had linked up with Patton's Third Army.

Blonde Stops 'Em

MILES CITY, Mont., Sept. 8 (AP)—A highway department crew wanted to stop motorists to direct them over a detour. So they stationed a pretty blonde at one end of the detour and at the other—a brunette.

Bishop O'Leary Has 23d Anniversary

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 8.—The Most Rev. Thomas M. O'Leary, bishop of Springfield, today marked his 23rd year as spiritual head of 500,000 Massachusetts Catholics by celebrating a pontifical mass in St. Michael's Cathedral. Bishop O'Leary recently observed his 63th birthday.

Hero to Meet New Daughter

Coming home on his first furlough in months, CMM Brady Lawson Bryan, 29, of Raymond st., Allston, will be greeted tomorrow by his wife, Mary, and their nine-day-old daughter.

Brady's leave was the climax of a series of happy events in the Bryan family. First came news of his daughter's birth at Chelsea Naval Hospital. Then the Navy announced his award of the Navy Cross for extreme heroism in action, in saving the lives of four shipmates when the destroyer Meredith went down last June.

The Navy said Bryan escaped easily, but learning four seriously injured men were trapped, he went below and rescued them.

Text of Dewey's Speech

Tonight we open a campaign to decide the course of our country for many years to come. The next National Administration will take office Jan. 20, 1945, and will serve until 1949. Those years 1945 to 1949 will be largely—and we pray, wholly peacetime years.

For nearly three years our nation has been engaged in a world war. Today our armed forces are winning victory after victory. Total, smashing victory is in sight. Germany and Japan shall be given the lessons of their lives—right in Berlin and Tokyo.

AMERICA—our America which loves peace so dearly—is proving once again that it can wage war mightily . . . that it can crush any aggressor who threatens the freedom which we love even more than peace. The American people have risen to the challenge. The war is being won on the battlefronts. It is also being won in the factory, the office, the farm, the mine and the home.

Yes, we are proving that we can wage war. But what are the prospects of success as a nation at peace? The answer depends entirely on the outcome of this election.

At the very outset I want to make one thing clear. This is not merely a campaign against an individual or a political party. It is not merely a campaign to displace a tired, exhausted, quarrelling and bickering Administration with a fresh and vigorous Administration.

It is a campaign against an Administration which was conceived in defeatism, which failed for eight years to restore our domestic economy, which has been the most wasteful, extravagant and incompetent Administration in the history of the nation, and worst of all, one which has lost faith in itself and in the American people.

Afraid of Peace

This basic issue was clearly revealed in the recent announcement by the director of selective service in Washington. He said that when Germany and Japan have been defeated it will still be necessary to demobilize the armed forces very gradually. And why? Because, he said, "we can keep people in the Army about as cheaply as we could create an agency for them when they are out." Let me repeat. "We can keep people in the Army about as cheaply as we could create an agency for them when they are out."

For six months we have been hearing statements from the New Deal underlings in Washington that this was the plan. Now it is out in the open. They have been working up to it. Because they are afraid of peace. They are afraid of a continuance of their own failures to get this country going again. They are afraid of America. I do not share that fear. I believe that our members of the armed forces should be transported home and released at the earliest practical moment after victory. I believe that the occupation of Germany and Japan should very soon be confined to those who voluntarily choose to remain in the Army when peace comes. I am not afraid of the future of America—either immediate or distant. I am sure of our future, if we get a national administration which believes in our country.

The New Deal was founded on the philosophy that our frontiers are behind us and all we have left to do is to quarrel over the division of what we have. Mr. Roosevelt himself, said in 1932:

"Our industrial plant is built . . . Our task is not . . . necessarily producing more goods. It is the soberer, less dramatic business of administering resources and plants already in hand."

The New Deal operated on that philosophy for seven straight peacetime years with unlimited power. At the end of that time in 1939, the New Deal gave its own official verdict on its failure by this cold admission: "The American economic machine is stalled on dead center."

The administration knows that the war, with all its tragic toll of death, debt and destruction, is the only thing that saved it. They are deadly afraid that they will go back to resumption of their own failure. That is why they are afraid to let men out of the Army. That is why they say it is cheaper to keep men in the Army than to let them come home.

Ten Million Jobless

Now let us get another point straight for the records right here at the beginning. In the last hundred years we have had 11 periods during which business and employment were well below normal. During that period, the average depression lasted two years. In the entire hundred years the longest depression of all was five years and the next longest was four years—up to the last one.

When this administration took office the depression was already over three years old. Then what happened? In 1934 when the depression was then five years old—longer than any other in a century, we still had 12 million unemployed. By 1940, the depression was almost 11 years old. This administration had been in power for seven straight years and there were still ten million Americans unemployed.

It took a World War to get jobs for the American people.

LET'S GET ONE THING CLEAR AND SETTLED. WHO WAS PRESIDENT DURING THE DEPRESSION THAT LASTED FROM 1933 UNTIL SOMETIME IN 1940 WHEN WAR ORDERS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD BEGAN TO BRING US FULL EMPLOYMENT AGAIN? THE NEW DEAL KEPT THIS COUNTRY IN A CONTINUOUS STATE OF DEPRESSION FOR SEVEN STRAIGHT YEARS. IT WAS THE NEW DEAL THAT MADE—A THREE-YEAR DEPRESSION LAST 11 YEARS—OVER TWICE AS LONG AS ANY OTHER DEPRESSION IN A WHOLE CENTURY.

Time for a Change

Now, Washington is getting all set for another depression. They intend to keep the young men in the Army. The New Deal spokesmen are daily announcing that reconversion will be difficult, if not impossible. They say that relief rolls will be enormous. They dreadfully promise us that we will need to prepare for an army of unemployed bigger than the armies we have put in the field against the Germans and the Japanese. That's what's wrong with the New Deal. That's why it's time for a change.

The reason for this long continued failure is two-fold. First, because there never was a worse job done of running our government. When one agency fails, the New Deal just piles another on and we pay for both. When both fail, there is no one in authority to put a stop to it. When agencies get snarled up there is no one in authority to untangle them. Meanwhile, the people's business goes to pot and the people are the victims.

Right in the final crisis of this war, the most critical of all, we have seen quarrelling, dissunity and public recriminations day after day, as one competent man after another resigned and the head of the board was sent to China. This isn't a new experience—others have been sent to China. We have agency. The cost to the war effort, to the country, can never be calculated. And it's time the people put an end to it, because nobody else will.

When the WPB fell apart, so did your chance under this administration for jobs after the war. For now the New Dealers have moved in, and their handiwork, their promise for America is not jobs—but the dole.

The other reason for this long continued failure—the reason why they are now dismally preparing for another depression—is because this administration has so little faith in the United States. They believe in the defeatist philosophy that our industrial plant is built, that our task is not to produce more goods but to fight among ourselves over what we have.

I believe that we have not even begun to build our industrial plant. We have not exhausted our inventive genius. We have not exhausted our capacity to produce more goods for our people. No living man has yet dreamed of the limit to which we can go if we have a government which believes in the American economic system and in the American people.

Must Keep Freedom

This administration is convinced that we can achieve social security only by surrendering a little bit of freedom for every little bit of security. That is exactly what our enemies thought. So their people first lost their freedom and then their security. I cannot accept that course for America. I believe—I know—that we can achieve real social security only if we do keep our freedom.

There can be—there must be jobs and opportunity for all, without discrimination on account of race, creed, color or national origin.

There must be jobs in industry, in agriculture, in mines, in stores, in offices, at a high level of wages and salaries. There must be opportunity and incentive for men and women to go into business for themselves.

The war has proved that despite the New Deal, America can mightily increase its frontiers of production. With competent government America can produce mightily for peace. And the standard of living of our people is limited only by the amount of goods and services we are able to produce. The New Deal prepares to keep America's Army because it is afraid a resumption of 12 million depression. They can't think of anything for us to do once we stop building guns and tanks. But to those who believe in America, there's lots to do. Why, just take housing, for example. If we simply build the homes the American people need in order to be decently housed, it will keep millions of men employed for years. After 12 years of the New Deal the housing of the American people has fallen down so badly that just to come up to the standards of 1930 we will need to build more than a million homes a year for many years to come. And this does not include the enormous need for farm housing repairs and alterations.

Immediate Need

By the end of this year we will have an immediate need for 6,000,000 automobiles just to put the same number of cars back on the road that were there in 1941. We will need after the war three and one-half million vacuum cleaners, 7,000,000 clocks, 23,000 radio sets, 5,000,000 refrigerators, 10,000,000 electric irons, 3,000,000 washing machines, and millions of other household appliances. There are 600 different articles made of steel and iron which have been manufactured since 1942. All this means production and production means jobs. But that kind of production and that kind of jobs are beyond the experience and vision of the New Deal.

The transportation industry—rail, air and motor—is waiting to get going.

THE MIGHTY ENERGY WE FOUND LYING DORMANT AND UNUSED IN THE COUNTRY AT THE BEGINNING OF THE WAR MUST BE TURNED FROM DESTRUCTION TO CREATION. THERE CAN AND MUST BE JOBS FOR ALL WHO WANT THEM AND A FREE, OPEN DOOR FOR EVERY MAN WHO WANTS TO START OUT IN BUSINESS FOR HIMSELF.

We know from long experience that we will not provide jobs and restore small business by the methods of the New Deal. We cannot keep our freedom and at the same time continue experimentation with a new policy every day by the national government. We cannot succeed with a controlled and regulated society under a government which destroys incentive, chokes production, fosters distrust, and discourages men with vision and imagination from creating new

The New Deal really believes that unemployment is bound to be with us permanently. It says so. They will change this 12-year-old tune between now and election. They have done it every time. But they've always come back to it after election. The New Deal really believes that we cannot have good social legislation and also good jobs for all. I believe with all my heart and soul that we can have both.

Of course, we need security regulations. Of course, we need bank deposit insurance. Of course, we need price support for agriculture. Of course the farmers of this country cannot be left to the hazards of a world price while they buy their goods on an American price. Of course, we need unemployment insurance and old age pensions and also relief whenever there are not enough jobs. Of course, the rights of labor to organize and bargain collectively are fundamental. My party blazed the trail in that field by passage of the railway labor act in 1926.

Encourage Enterprise

But we must also have a government which believes in enterprise and government policies which encourage enterprise. We must see to it that a man who wants to start a business is encouraged to start it, that the man who wants to expand a going business is encouraged to expand it. We must see to it that the job-producing enterprises of America are stimulated to produce more jobs. We must see to it that the man who wants to produce more jobs is not throttled by the government—but knows that he has a government as eager for him to succeed as he is himself.

We cannot have jobs and opportunity if we surrender our freedom to government control. We do not need to surrender our freedom to government control in order to have the economic security to which we are entitled as free men. We can have both opportunity and security within the framework of a free society. That is what the American people will say at the election next November.

With the winning of the war in sight, there are two overshadowing problems. First, the making and keeping of the peace of the world. Second, the children and men children shall not face this tragedy all over again. This great objective to which we are all so deeply devoted, I shall talk about at Louisville tomorrow night on the radio.

The other problem is whether we shall replace the tired and quarrelsome defeatism of the present administration with a fresh and vigorous government which believes in the future of the United States, and knows how to act on that belief.

To Use Plain English

Such action involves many things: Tax policies, regulatory policies, labor policies, opportunity for small business, the bureaucracy which are attempting to regulate every detail of the lives of our people—these are all of major importance. I shall discuss each of them in detail before this campaign is over. I will discuss them in plain English and say what we propose to do about them.

I am interested—desperately interested in bringing to our country a re-birth of faith in our future. I am deeply interested in bringing a final end to the defeatism and failure of this administration in its domestic policies. I am deeply devoted to the principle that victory in this war shall mean victory for freedom and for the permanent peace of the world. Our place in a peaceful world can and will be made secure. But nothing on earth will make us secure unless we are re-born with faith in our future, and unless we have faith in ourselves. We can and we will recover our future and go forward in the path of freedom and security. I have unlimited faith that the American people will choose that

Dewey States the Issue

GOVERNOR DEWEY'S opening campaign speech in Philadelphia urged upon the American people sober consideration of the fact that the nation will return to a peacetime economy during the four years of the next administration.

He believes that if the people DO soberly consider this fact, they will agree with him that it would be an act of national wisdom to have a NEW administration and that it would be an act of national folly to retain an administration which failed FOR EIGHT STRAIGHT YEARS to alleviate our pre-war depression.

The New Deal Administration of President Roosevelt, as Governor Dewey says, came into power in a time of depression.

It had more power to deal with that depression than any administration in American history.

It spent more money in its efforts to end that depression than any government in all human history.

It borrowed money in unprecedented volume.

It levied taxes at the highest levels ever. And yet in all the years before the present war, it never solved the depression, it never reduced unemployment.

All the billions of dollars it spent pyramided borrowing upon borrowing, debt upon debt, taxes upon taxes—and never bought anything for the American people but the humiliation of doles and relief rolls.

Only the war, as Governor Dewey says, SAVED the New Deal Administration of President Roosevelt by creating jobs for the people—the kind of jobs they have performed magnificently well, but the kind they cannot depend upon permanently and do not WANT permanently.

THAT IS WHAT Governor Dewey considers the fundamental issue of his campaign.

It is not to the credit of the New Deal Administration that the American people have done their war job magnificently well.

That is solely to the credit of THE PEOPLE THEMSELVES.

The thing the New Deal must be judged by, and cannot avoid being judged by, is its own complete failure to make the nation prosperous in the years of peace before the war.

It is wholly incapable of making the nation prosperous in the coming years of peace.

"The administration knows that the war, with all its tragic toll of death, debt and destruction, is the only thing that saved it," Governor Dewey said in Philadelphia.

"They are deadly afraid that they will go back to resumption of their own failures . . .

"Now, Washington is getting all set for ANOTHER depression."

"The New Deal spokesmen are daily announcing that reconversion will be difficult, if not impossible."

"They say that relief rolls will be enormous. They dreamily promise us that we will need to prepare for an army of unemployed bigger than the armies we have put in the field against the Germans."

"That is what is WRONG with the New Deal. That is why it is time for a CHANGE . . .

"THEY CAN'T THINK OF ANYTHING FOR US TO DO ONCE WE STOP BUILDING GUNS AND TANKS."

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE know that Governor Dewey is right.

They know the PAST record of the New Deal in peace.

They know what to EXPECT from a New Deal Administration in the coming peace—more depression, more debts and taxes, more unemployment, more humiliating doles.

That is indeed what is WRONG with the New Deal Administration of President Roosevelt, what has BEEN wrong with it ever since it came to power, what will BE wrong with it as long as it continues in power.

It is indeed time for a CHANGE, a change to the productive, progressive and prosperous way of life the American people knew so long as a FREE people.

God send us a little home
To come back to when we roam;
Low walls and fluted tiles,
Wide windows a view for miles;

Red firelight and deep chairs,
Small white beds uppers;
Great talk in little nooks,
Dim colors, rows of books;
God send us a little ground,
Tall trees standing round;
Homely flowers in brown sod,
Overhead 'T stars, O God!

A LIEUTENANT in the U. S. Army in France requested the above poem. "It describes what most of us at the front dream about when we have a chance to dream," he says. . . In England, government officials do not ask "what is your name?" but "what are your names?" For example, I would have to answer "my names are Edgy Vincent Darling." However, United States officials and agencies are very particular about getting all the names of a person. They will not accept initials. For example, a New York city draft board had a complaint from Washington officials that the name of Registrant Lieutenanzuisszesszes W. Hurzisszisszes was not complete. The draft board replied that the registrant's middle name was Willikininisszissloziss.

WEDDING RINGS: Added to the list of famous men who wear wedding rings can be that of Lt. Billy Hillenbrand, former University of Indiana football star.

The lieutenant, who still plays football when his duties permit, lost his wedding ring in a game the 50-yard line. This department receives numerous letters from wives who claim their husbands wear wedding rings. However, I practically never see a man wearing one. When a fellow is seen wearing a wedding band his wife is usually with him. Can it be that most men whose wives want them to wear wedding rings put them in their vest pockets once they are out of sight of the little lady?

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: A—If it is a girl I want to name her Edna after my favorite aunt. But my wife says not many successful women have been named Edna. She wants to call the child Helen or Dorothy. How about this? A—There have been a lot of successful women named Edna. For example, Edna May Oliver, Edna Furse, Edna Godrich and Edna St. Vincent Milly. Q—How about the character of a taffy blonde with green eyes? A—Couldn't say. Don't know what a taffy blonde is. I can't find it on our Horses & Women Department's list of 89 types of blondes. Q—In an argument with a couple of stubborn, egotistical sergeants, I claimed that "Brick" Muller threw a 100-yard forward pass in a game at Polo Grounds in New York. How about it? Am I right or do I have to swallow the sneers of these sergeants? A—I would like to help out, but I have no record of the 100-yard pass you mention. However, "Brick" Muller holds the record for the longest completed pass made in a college football game. In 1920, in a game between California and Ohio State, Muller threw a completed 70-yard pass to H. W. Stephens.

WIVES: As to the percentage of men who have wonderful wives, our Horses & Women Department has no definite statistics. However, this percentage seems high in Chicago. I quote from a communication received from a happy husband of that city. Says he: "I see a man in San Francisco is very proud of his wife because she is clever enough to give him a haircut every week. My wife does the same for me. In addition to being a skilful barber, my wife understands shoemaking and repairs my shoes. She can also bake, sew, knit, hem, stitch, crochete, make hats and dresses and play any kind of a card game. She can paint and decorate a house, hang wall paper, do light carpenter work, understands plumbing and is a trained nurse. If any reader thinks I am exaggerating as to my wife's versatility I am prepared to make a substantial wager that I can prove my claims."

Washington Scene

By GEORGE DIXON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—A politically-minded friend of mine who gets around in both Republican and Democratic circles—he is a two-faced bum if there ever was one—came in the other day with an interesting thesis.

"Politics is a very trying business, especially in a Presidential year," he said. "Everybody wants recognition."

I told him I could appreciate that politics might have its thorny side, but what did he mean by recognition?

"It is this way," he said. "When two parties are trying to elect candidates, which is usually the case in a Presidential year, they set up elaborate machinery. Then they try to get efficient people to operate the machinery."

"Well, you may not believe this, but it seems many efficient people are loath to enter heart and soul into a Presidential campaign unless they think they can get something out of it for themselves."

"SOME WANT one thing, some another. I have heard, in a roundabout way, there are even some who want dough. I am willing to concede this is pretty far-fetched, but that is what I heard."

"Others," he went on, "crave power—or the promise of power. Some have cute little axes to grind, like getting special business concessions when, and if, their candidate is elected."

"But all want one thing—recognition!"

"You said that before," I reminded him. "Please be kind enough to clarify."

"Recognition," he said, "has various guises. But it is almost an axiom in politics that you can't get any real work out of a campaign helper unless he gets it. They wait at back and front. Or they will just dog it."

"The type of recognition desired by some is a good-paying government job, but campaign managers do not like to extend this kind. Once the fellow gets on the government payroll the Hatch Act prevents you from using him in politics. In other words, he is immediately demobilized."

"On the Democratic side, the recognition sought by some is an invitation to tea at the White House. I do not know why they yearn so desperately to sip tea at the White House because I hear the tea there is no better than any place else."

"On the Republican side, one of the most ardent types of recognition being sought is an invitation to play nine holes of golf with Governor Dewey at Pawling, N. Y. If Governor Dewey played nine holes of golf with everyone angling for such an invitation he might become national open champion, but never President."

"There are others," continued my friend, "who merely wish to be 'consulted.'"

INFORMED HIM I did not quite understand. "The business of being 'consulted' is pretty nebulous," he replied. "What is really boils down to is this:

"The crum-bum who wishes to be 'consulted' usually wants only to have his advice sought. He does not care greatly whether it is followed. But he wants to be able to impress acquaintances by remarking casually:

"'F. D. R. called me in for advice today,' or 'Dewey called me,' or 'Hawesgan,' or 'Brownell.' It gives him something to talk about while the other fellow is lifting the cheek."

My friend said there are small, less demanding people, whose only aspiration is to have the candidates remember them by name.

"A good politician always tries to remember names," he said.

"Some are very cute at it. Senate Majority Leader Barkley has a wonderful trick. He will meet a fellow and pretend he has the name right on the tip of his tongue but that it is capriciously eluding him for the minute. So the fellow will come to his rescue and say:

"Jones."

"Whereupon Senator Barkley will say: 'No, no—I certainly wouldn't forget the name of my old pal Jones. What I meant, Jonesey, old boy, what is your first name?'"

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8—Maj. Frank Lloyd returns to Hollywood and inactive duty next Thursday. He has been decorated for distinguished service in the South Pacific and has had an enviable war record. With victory so close, Frank, along with some of the older Hollywood men, is now out of the service and ready to resume his pre-war job.

Frank's first motion picture deal is with William Cagney. He'll direct James Cagney in "Blood On The Sun." As soon as he takes off his uniform he will go to work getting the Cagney movie in readiness for the screen.

"THE AMAZING DR. CLITTERHOUSE," which was one of the first comedy mysteries to be made for the screen, is to be brought back by Wolfgang Reinhardt. You probably remember Edward G. Robinson in this psychological murder mystery based on a London play. It did a big business. Now Reinhardt wants to remake it with Charles Laughton in the Robinson role. Lione Wiggam has been assigned to prepare the screen play, and we know that even though seven years doesn't seem a long time there's always an improvement in motion picture technique.

LEE SULLIVAN has been chosen to play Chauncey Olcott in the life story of the famous singer. Charles Rogers, who is producing the biography of the beloved Olcott, saw rushes of Sullivan in the "Great John L." and signed him for two pictures—the first, of course, the life story of Olcott. Sullivan, who was signed for the second lead in "John L." by Bing Crosby, is a third cousin of George M. Cohan on his mother's side and a distant relative of John L. himself, on his father's side.

LOUIS ADLON, who married Rose Davies only a few months ago, has been at Republic studio playing a comedy role in Arthur Lake's picture, "Next Comes Love." Arthur is his son-in-law. Louis has had many interesting experiences in the picture business. Although he came to America 20 years ago and is an American citizen, he went to Berlin to visit and helped produce several of UFA's best pictures. Now he is an actor and is testing for an important role at Columbia in "Counterattack," but he hopes one day to get back into the production end.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Vera Vague has been very sick for the past few days, so sick she had to ask for time out from Republic, where she's making a picture. And here's the funny part: Vera cooked her own dinner a few days ago and got sick. She says it wasn't her bad cooking, but she got the dog's food instead of the meat she had bought for herself. Wonder what would have happened to the poor dog if he had eaten his food.

A LINE OR TWO: Cantinflas was an hour late to the cocktail party Rio gave in his honor. He had probably heard how late Hollywood always is in keeping social engagements. But everyone waited to greet him, including Jinx Falkenberg, Lucille Ball, Desi Arnaz and all the Latin press, as well as consuls from our neighbor countries. He is a pleasant appearing young man and is the idol of Mexico... Dennis O'Keefe was offered the all-time 1944 high of $8000 by Herb Yates to play opposite Vera Ralston, but he had a previous commitment. Robert Livingston, an ex-cowboy, got the job... Murphy McHenry, well known press agent, was busy receiving congratulations today on his marriage. His bride is the former Felice Anita Ruseen, a half-sister of Jacqueline Dalya. They were married in Santa Monica by Judge Rhodes. The bride comes from Cuba and is the daughter of a well known financier.

I HAVE SEEN Eleanor Parker here and there dining with this man and that one and so wondered if she and her husband, Frank Losee, had parted. She said: "The whole thing is ridiculous. Frank left a few days after we were married and he has been very sick in a military hospital. I expect he will be home in a few months. Of course I go to dinners and the theater with men. I couldn't very well stay home 14 months, and Frank understands perfectly the way I feel. I write and tell him everything I do."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLY-

Boston American, Sept. 8—23

WOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Friends are predicting an early separation between Al Lichtman, M-G-M executive, and his wife; Jeanne Crain and Paul Brinkman look serious; Lt. Ty Power is spending his leave with Annabella in New York; Jean Negulesco and Ilona Massey are now an item; Charles Laughton has been making a series of Biblical records that I hear are terrific; Eddie Cline has a job in England directing a picture the moment the war is over; Xavier Cugat has rented Hedy Lamarr's house and Hedy is still looking around to buy a bigger place.

WARD BOND, on crutches, received a royal welcome at the Clover Club—his first appearance since his accident; John Carroll, out of uniform, night clubbing with Margery Stewart; Pvt. Lon McCallister has authored a short story and submitted it to an agent; Buddy Rich, drummer in the Tommy Dorsey band, has been very ill and unable to work in the Dorsey movie at M-G-M; Gregory Ratoff gave a dinner party in honor of Darryl Zanuck's birthday, but the guest of honor did not arrive from Lake Tahoe in time. The cake was cut and Darryl toasted just the same. Later Greg took his guests to the Palladium, where Mrs. William Perlberg's brother-in-law, Henry Busse, and his orchestra were the attraction. Busse married Lorraine Brock and Mrs. Perlberg was Bobbie Brock. They were Ziegfeld beauties; Byrnie Foy, the Harry Brands, the Lew Schriebers were in the party; the prettiest girl I've seen in years is Cara Williams, a cute red-head who is attracting much attention from the unattached gents around town. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

EVIDENTLY Mary Margaret Lyman and Flight Officer Fairfield Goodale, Jr., have been discussing orange blossoms and diamonds in letters to and from his Army Air Corps base because their engagement is announced today by Mary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Lyman of Ricefield, Westwood. Mary is a debutante this season and a graduate of Winsor. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fairfield Goodale of Framingham Center and both families are prominent in the hunting set out that way.

Mrs. Frederic C. Church

AT HER coming out party at the Ritz a week from tonight Jane Ellis will be saying "so long till Christmas" to sister debs and the Harvardian stag line because she'll be off to Bryn Mawr a few days later. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Ellis of Brookline, Jane graduated from Winsor last June.

MRS. WALLACE LINCOLN PIERCE of Brookline will be matron of honor and if she gets her wish Lt. Pierce will usher at the wedding of her sister, Emily Bonnard, of Park ave., and A. Lindsay Thompson of Hartford, who have set the date for Oct. 28 in New York.

STRICTLY a family affair will be the bridal party surrounding Olivia Ames and Lt. William Manice, Jr., when they are married Sunday afternoon in the picturesque little church at Manchester-by-the-Sea where her cousin, Paulina Longworth, was married two weeks ago. Olivia is the daughter of Mrs. Edward L. Bigelow and the late Oliver Ames, Jr.

Lee Bigelow and Harriet Manice will be bridesmaids, the groom's father best man and Edward L. Bigelow, Jr., Sewell Fessenden, H. F. Bigelow, Wm. Amory Parker, the latter three uncles of the bride, will usher.

BACK BAY NOTES: Noted for her chic and often called Boston's best-dressed woman, pretty Mrs. Frederic C. Church has already adopted Dame Fashion's latest fancy—the luxurious fur stole. She wore a beautiful mink one over a shocking pink dress and had a headress of pink dotted black veiling as she studied the latest news bulletins outside N. E. Mutual Bldg.

Up from Ipswich to select a few fall wedding gifts, Mrs. Ben P. P. Mosley and her daughter, Mrs. Oliver Ames, lunched at the Ritz and were modishly dressed in navy with touches of pink. Mrs. Lawrence Ross, daughter of Emmanuel's rector, window shopped near his church in a nice gray suit with citron yellow blouse and gloves. Debutante Sylvia Hurd of Mil-

AMERICAN AIRLINES WELCOMES
EASTERN AIR LINES ★ UNITED AIR LINES
TRANSCONTINENTAL & WESTERN AIR to BOSTON and NEW ENGLAND

BOSTON'S importance as a national and international air transportation hub is growing.

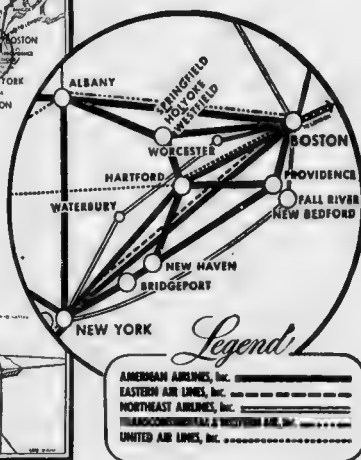

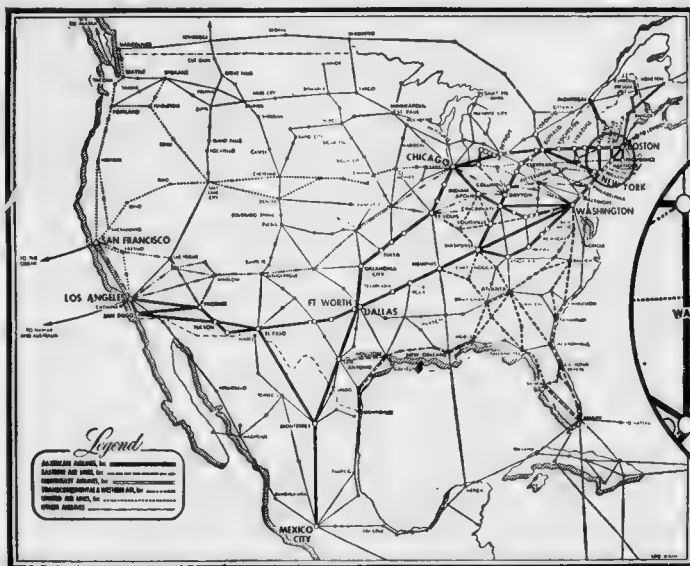

When equipment is available, three additional Airlines will join with Northeast Airlines and American Airlines to serve Boston and New England. American, which operates from coast to coast and in Canada and Mexico, for years has served most other major U. S. cities together with many other Airlines. American's leadership, therefore, was attained through competition with other Airlines. It will be maintained upon the same basis.

American has applications pending before the Civil Aeronautics Board for the extension of its routes to many additional U. S. cities. This will add considerably to Boston's air travel advantages.

American also is seeking a trans-Atlantic route from Boston to London, which will make Boston an international air port.

Unlike surface methods of travel, the importance of air transportation transcends local and sectional advantages. The speed of transport planes, their freedom of movement and their immunity from surface obstacles already have changed the pre-air age meaning of locations. Boston's radius of effectiveness is unlimited because distant places are only a few hours away by air.

In the air there are no seaboard, no interiors, no boundaries! "Where" has lost its old meaning. Now, the use we make of air's exclusive advantages determines our individual, civic and national prosperity and security.

Third Floor

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—A $50,000,000 industry has been formed to make Cuba the world's postwar gambling center. The money-men behind the venture are three famous Broadwayites: a night club owner, a bookmaker and "one of the boys" . . . City desks might check the report from Hollywood that Susanna Foster and Turhan Bey were married two weeks ago . . . Princess Elizabeth of England will make the Canada-U. S. A. tour soon after the war with Germany ends . . . S-Sgt. Max Baer is suing at an Army hospital . . . A local agent tells the theatrical set that Joan Crawford has $100,000 ready to back a musical which would star her . . . The former wife of a famous prize ring figure is so destitute she recently had to hock her clothes to buy food . . . The scenario backstage at "The Voice of the Turtle" the other day was almost as good as the Van Druten script onstage. Anyway, the matinee was cancelled and K. T. Stevens played the Margaret Sullivan role at the evening performance. Was excellent, too.

Ida Lupino

THE GAZETTES didn't report that a few nights after Garbo slid down a drainpipe to escape a burglar in her California home Katharine Hepburn was visited by an intruder . . . Hepburn, however, didn't flee. She just sat up in bed and in her best Connecticut-snob accents said: "What he h—do you want?" The burglar screamed. Kitty Carlisle, asked for years by Agent Arthur Lyons, has switched her heart to Erwin Swann, the agency executive . . . King Carol and Russia's ambassador to Mexico are holding serious pow-wows on the subject of Carol's return to Romania with Stalin's blessing . . . Ida Lupino, whose broken arm refuses to mend properly, will have it rebroken and reset for the third time . . . Conrad Nagel and thrush Beverly Whitney are a duet.

BARNBY GLAZER, the Hollywood director, is seriously ill . . . The most interesting woman in China today is an unpunctured 16-year-old beauty . . . Jack Dempsey's long distance calls are beamed to Mercedes Marlowe on the Coast . . . Publishers are eying Secretary Stimson's diary . . . The new Ed Wynn air-show is running into script snags. Martha O'Driscoll's husband, Lt. Com. Richard Adams, burned at the publicity her attempt to get a divorce received. As a result, he refused to sign the waiver papers, which means she'll have to wait for her freedom until the war ends . . . Gary Cooper is having his molars mended while he's in N.Y. . . . Henry Ford is negotiating to buy several plane manufacturing companies in California, with the intention of making postwar farm equipment for the Northwest . . . If Barbara Hutton goes through with her plans to marry her current "intended" after the Cary Grant divorce, the initials on her household-linen will be "B. H. M."

NEWEST CRAZE among the slightly blue beauties of Broadway and Hollywood is "skin-shrinking" treatments practiced by a local medical. They "debag" eyes and drop off simply years, my dear, in just ten days.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8—A Coast Guard lieutenant, Don Morgan, back in the states after several South Pacific invasions, received a ticket to attend a Frank Sinatra broadcast. His only recollection of Frankie-boy was in a short-wave broadcast he had heard. Morgan arrived at the broadcasting studio and saw a huge crowd of young fe-males, all wearing bobby socks.

Kay Aldridge

Morgan was ushered to a seat, and was flanked by members of the bobby-sock brigade. A cute youngster turned to him and asked: "Are you going to squeal when he sings?" Morgan was startled then he answered: "I don't recall squealing at anything, and I don't think singing can start me now." The bobby-socker almost hit him with her patent leather purse. "Then what are you here for?" she asked.

Morgan didn't get a chance to answer. If he had she wouldn't have heard him. Her eyes had become blue saucers and they were pointed straight forward. A stoop-shouldered youth with cheeks like foxholes had stepped on stage. A sound not unlike the whistles of a big shell broke loose. They were squealing. Morgan tried one simple squeal just to see what it would be like, but it embarrassed him.

THE ANNOUNCER said something, the band began, and Sinatra sang. He wasn't bad, Morgan declared, but he was no John Charles Thomas, or even a Bing Crosby. But the bobby-sockers all around him started to squirm, squeal and yammer.

Frankie-boy stopped singing and the squealers relaxed. The girl turned to Morgan and said: "If you don't like him, why don't you leave?" "But I squealed twice," Morgan said. "I know," she replied, "but not at the right times." "I'm sorry," Lt. Morgan replied, and he got up from his seat and made his way to the aisle. As Morgan walked to the rear of the broadcasting studio, he felt that the girls were taking off their bobby socks and choking him with them, for he was walking out on their "frankie-boy."

KAY ALDRIDGE made a screen test at Twentieth Century-Fox that is a riot of the projection rooms, Miss Aldridge wrote the scene she did with Phil Silvers, who appears in the test with her.

The sequence they did is called "The Perils of Kay Aldridge," and in it, Miss Aldridge, who is a glamour girl, goes to a producer's (Phil Silvers) office for a job in pictures and she reverses the usual procedure by chasing the producer around the desk and office, and has him fighting to protect his honor.

Kay Aldridge, after her introductory remarks, says to the producer, before she leaps towards him: "You said you want a woman to be warm and loving, Darling, that's just how I feel when I look at you. You're so big and strong, so alive, your eyes do something to me. I love the way your nose crinkles up when you laugh. Darling, here we are alone, just the two of us. I know you are a great executive and I'm just an actress, but we're boy and girl hungry for each other . . ."

Boston After Dark

THE ONE-TIME COUNT (and now "Mister") Haugwitz-Reventlow, ex-husband of the former Barbara Hutton (after she married the late Prince Alexis Mdivani and before she became the bride of Cary Grant), is expected (by this department, at least) to make his first open public appearance at the debut next Monday of the new Myles Standish cocktail lounge.

A BLOCK AND A HALF east of the Myles Standish, where the masons and carpenters and decorators are busy, another swarm of artisans has been employed for many weeks in remaking the lobby and dining room of the Hotel Fensgate . . . It develops that the Satire Room, which became locally famous under the management of Arki-Yavensonne (who could luy good acts for a song) is to be enlarged.

WHAT HAS BEEN THE Fensgate's dining room will be part and parcel of the Satire Room, although Bernard Shepard Snyder, the new manager-owner, is going to retain the cosy room's beguiling intimacy . . . But Manager Snyder has ambitious plans for the postwar period . . . The lovely Satire Gardens, which has been a real success this summer, thanks to Andy Jacobson's mellow music and the attractiveness of dining at fresco, will emerge eventually as a 300-capacity supper room . . . Fronting the Charles River, the new room will be constructed for all-year-round use.

THE NEW POTENTIAL Broadway hit titled "Anna Lucasta" has been "kicking around" Broadway producing offices, in manuscript form, for more than six years . . . It was written originally with a set of Polish-American characters, but John Wildberg, the producer, changed the background and story to fit an assortment of Negro actors . . . Wildberg's first venture with colored actors was the successful revival of "Porgy and Bess."

"WILSON" has been booked into the Keith-Boston for an engagement of not less than three weeks, beginning Sept. 28 . . . Stan Kenton's band and stage show will accompany the showing of the film . . . This policy of coupling big pictures with strong stage attractions has proved a bonanza to the Romy Theater in New York, and the policy—as nearly as possible—will be followed this season at the Boston . . . Phil Regan's going away party to Boston friends started at 11 p. m. in Phil's hotel . . . The host got to bed at 5:30, outstaying all but two of his guests . . . The successful Jack Larkin-Howard Johnson's contribution on has bought the restaurant known as "Old France," in Providence, report has it.

HERE ARE the ingredients of that remedy which reportedly brings real relief to hay fever victims: camphor eucalyptol, menthol, oil of peppermint, oil of pine needles, alcohol 46 per cent by volume . . . It is manufactured by a firm in Cincinnati which has a P. O. Box No. 1399 . . . Persons who wrote to this department for the name of the medicine will kindly take the above information as an answer . . . A corps of secretaries, presently unavailable, would be needed to answer the flood of mail.

"CAPTAIN ANDERSON," the manager of the annual circus which pleased the kids and other patrons at the Marshfield Fair, will be known more readily to patrons of the Totem Pole, Normandy, Swand and other ballrooms as Dan Moriarty, his real name . . . Dan's dumb troupe was saved when Luna Park was ravaged by fire, but he lost all the properties of the act . . . Salvo Caviccio, the maestro, thinks he has discovered a strong potential song-writing talent in Patricia Petremont, a student at Winslow Academy . . . The Caviccio band at the Staller has played three of the girl's tunes, "A Penny for Your Thoughts," "You're Terrific" and "I Want to Get Some Fun Out of Life."

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Like the old organization of flunkies who bailed out from airplanes (known as "Quiet Birdmen"), flunkies of the Allies who have been plucked from the oceans are members of an organization known as "The Goldfish Bowl" . . . Lt. Edgar Green, USAAF, of Brookline, and son of the theatrical real-estate man, disclosed the existence of the new club for lads who have been pulled from the drink . . . Lt. Green was one of four survivors of a bomber crash in the Pacific . . . He and a small group of men were rescued after three days on a life raft.

231 Japs Killed In Prison Mutiny

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Two hundred thirty-one Japanese prisoners of war were killed and 108 wounded in a mutiny in an Australian camp Aug. 5, Prime Minister Curtin disclosed today.

The Japanese, armed with mess knives and baseball bats, rose against their guards in the early hours. All but a few who escaped were rounded up by nightfall.

About 900 Japs took part, and 36 committed suicide. Eighteen of 30 sleeping huts and two administration buildings were destroyed by fire, and inside were found a frozen Japanese bodies.

Water Needed By Fall Crops

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of Market Garden Dept., Suffolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Record-America-Roadside Advertiser Demonstration Garden in Boston Common.

With September starting out drier than usual, it will be necessary to water late crops to get the best results.

Our late crops are doing exceptionally well. The late beets and carrots are ready to thin, with the beets producing excellent greens for variety. These late crops will come in when the prices are up. Beans, ready for harvest now, will go a long way to help reduce the food budget with retail prices ranging from 15 to 20 cents per pound.

Home gardeners are now able to see the value of controlling insects and diseases. Tomato plants that were kept free of insects and disease are still producing a heavy crop. A lot of gardeners are losing their plants now, with yields stopping when prices are rising. Pole beans kept free of the bean beetle are still yielding. These crops should keep producing until frost.

Late cabbage is a crop that must be kept free of the green worm if you want clean heads. At this time of the year the damage becomes more serious and will check the growth. Thorough dusting at once will help to check the damage. Rotenone applied carefully should give good results. Dust the plants when they are damp so that the dust will stick.

The lower leaves of staked tomatoes harbor many insects and diseases. These leaves that have turned yellow are of no value to the plant and can be picked off. Removing these leaves as they turn yellow will be a big aid in disease control.

State Joins Hunt For Gas Prowler

MATTOON, Ill., Sept. 8 (AP)—

Two state investigators joined the hunt for a gas-spraying marauder after three new victims reported they had been sickened by the fumes.

Two women and a man reported they woke in the sleeping rooms of their homes last night and early today suffering from nausea. They added that their lips and throats seemed parched.

None of them saw the prowler. During the past week a dozen persons, most of them women, have reported they were made ill by an unidentified chemical which in most instances was injected into bed chambers through open windows. In no case was the victim further molested.

Lorre Shares Boston Honors

By DON WARD

The star billing at the RKO-Boston this week is about evenly divided between the personal appearance of Peter Lorre, the friend of the films, and Freddy Slack and his band, likewise of Hollywood.

It is difficult for a horror artist like Mr. Lorre to do an effective "single" without costume or make-up on a merry-merry vaudeville stage. Whatever he says is bound to be in the nature of a "recitation"—and that's in the corny class now. But strange to say, Mr. Lorre spoke his piece like a little man and the unpredictable audience whistled and cheered.

It was something about a guy with a glass head going to the electric chair amid groans of terror. Mr. Lorre didn't make it too plain that poor Glass Noggin deserved such a fate.

Freddy Slack is all to the blue and remarkable with boogie-woogie. At the piano himself, he took Zez Confrey's now almost classic piano solo of 20 years ago, "Kitten On The Keys," rolled out a figured bass of his own and brought the old jazz to imposing form. You could learn an awful lot from Freddy Slack at this point.

Imogene Lynn was ever so attractive doing the vocals.

The most spontaneous applause went to Danny Drayton, "Jester of Jive," who has a real comic sense. His pantomime dancing and comedy falls are alone worth the price of admission. Best of the hit right here, in this opinion.

Grand for GI Joe Christmas Package

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THIS IS NOT going to be a beauty column, but it is just as important, if not more so, to girls who are planning to send Christmas boxes to their husbands and sweethearts overseas.

We hope you are keeping yourself young and lovely for him, anyhow . . . and we can assure you that after weary hours of marching, a soldier who gets foot-comfort out of a kit you sent him will think of you with love!

One of the swankier cosmetics houses has packaged three of its men's grooming essentials in an attractive grey box . . . nice and masculine in appearance, and very practical.

The contents of the kit take care of a man's shave, his mouth hygiene and foot comfort. There is an active Ozone shave-stick, which can be used with very little water of any type . . . hot, cold, hard, soft or salt . . . and which has a soothing olive oil base. Skins made sensitive and raw by tropical sun, salt spray and exposure need it particularly.

DOUBLES AS A DENTIFRICE

The second item is a pleasant, refreshing mouth wash, which also doubles as a dentifrice and as an aid to gum massage. The third is one that your man will bless you for . . . an Active Ozone Foot-stick.

The Foot-stick is designed to cool, soothe and relax hot, tired feet . . . it relieves the itching, cracking and scaling of athlete's foot, and is antiseptic and deodorizing.

You may say that this doesn't sound like a very romantic gift . . . but ask any GI Joe which would give him more pleasure . . . painless shaving and cool foot comfort, or a book of love poetry.

I'll tell you where to get this kit if you call the Beauty Department, LIBERTY 4000, or write me, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

FRANCES LANGFORD is a favorite of the boys overseas . . . but if you want to hold first place in the heart of one particular GI Joe, send him for Christmas a kit of comforts that will make him think of you gratefully morning, noon and night.

Should Check My Day Stories

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I don't know which one to believe, my wife or my mother. My mother has never cared for my wife, because she wanted me to marry another girl who was sedate and uninteresting. My wife is the jolly kind, full of fun and a swell housekeeper. She never drank to any extent before I went into the Army, but now my mother swears she drinks continually with any man who comes along. We have a boy of four, and if this is true, our home is not the right sort of place for the boy.

My wife's letters sound normal. I just don't know what to do about things. A. V. W.

I hate to say it, but sometimes mothers who dislike their sons' wives are not above falsely accusing them of things of which they are innocent. There's a little invisible spirit of truth that creeps into letters, and I should think if your wife has begun to drink, you might be able to detect something between the lines of her letters.

Ask your mother for some proof of these charges. Does she know positively that your wife drinks? It it hearsay? How is your son getting on? If he's well, gaining and happy, it's a pretty good barometer that he's well cared for at home.

New Cocktail Suit With a Weskit

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SOMETHING different in the way of a dressy suit to wear for cocktails and other playtime things this coming winter is the weskit suit designed by Emmett Joyce for Samuel Kass. It is customary to think of the weskit as belonging to sports and practical clothes, but in the new edition it is very grand and dress-up looking.

Miss Dolin has sketched one for you. This is a black crepe weskit and skirt, and the former becomes very grand with big vivid pink sequined buttons fastening it down the front. They match a blouse of the same vivid pink worn under the weskit, and there is a pink ascot scarf to fill in the neck. The flaps on the pockets set at the waistline of the weskit give it a look of having a peplum flare.

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

VERY SOON, in every community in this country, waste paper is going to be collected on a big scale. Much of this collection will be done by young people, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and members of many other organizations.

An official marching song, "Paper Troopers," has been written for the drive and approved by the War Production Board. The two composers, Sunny Skylar and Henry Sylvester, are well known to radio fans.

Mr. Skylar is only 30, but has composed two of the year's top hit songs.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

PIE A LA MODE—Pie or cake or a loaf is eaten as a unit. Don't eat all the ice cream off the top first.

Children Love 'Em

By MARTHA LEE

"HEY, fellas—it's school-time!" is the cry we hear from all corners these days.

To mothers, however, it's not quite that merry. Back to school means back to packing lunch boxes, checking nutrition charts and making sure that the children's meals total up to the normal demands of mental and physical exertion.

Sandwiches should be nourishing and filling as well as just plain good. Raw vegetables—celery, tomatoes, carrot sticks or wedges of lettuce—will make lunches seem fresh from the garden rather than packed for hours. And have a thermos bottle full of something hot and a nourishing goodie for dessert.

BACON AND CHOPPED CELERY SANDWICH

3 slices cooked bacon, crumbled
1/2 cup finely diced celery
1 tbsp. mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/2 tsp. salt

Combine crisp, crumbled bacon and finely diced celery; add a dash of salt and moisten with mayonnaise. Spread between slices of whole wheat or white bread. Makes enough filling for two sandwiches.

LAMB AND JELLY SANDWICH

Spread slices of bread and butter. Spread one slice of the bread with jelly (mint or currant or other favorite kind); on other slice lay thin slices of cold roast lamb. Put slices together.

OTHER MEAT SANDWICH SUGGESTIONS

Mix chopped leftover veal, beef or lamb with minced celery, onion and mayonnaise. Combine crisp crumbled bacon with peanut butter. Grind leftover cooked liver with cooked bacon, moisten with salad dressing and stuff into round loaf. Cooked lamb with chopped fresh mint, moistened with salad dressing. Grind baked ham, combine with celery or green pepper. Try liverwurst sautéed in a little butter, as a sandwich filler.

GINGERSNAPS

1 cup melted shortening
1/2 tsp. lemon extract
1 egg, beaten
1/2 tsp. soda
4 1/2 cups flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. ginger
1 cup molasses

Combine shortening and molasses and lemon extract. Add egg and stir till mixture is blended. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add. Chill dough until firm enough to roll. Roll about 1/4 inch thick, cut and bake on a greased cookie sheet 275 deg. F. (350 deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 5 dozen 2 1/2 inch cookies.

NUTAROONS

1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup finely chopped peanuts
1/2 tsp. almond extract
4 cups oven-popped rice cereal
Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Add peanuts, flavoring and cereal; mix very well. Press mixture firmly into round bowl of tablespoon and drop on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Let cookies cool slightly before removing from pan. Makes 2 1/2 dozen cookies (2 1/4 inches in diameter).

Note—Nutaroon mixture is somewhat dry in appearance before baking. Do not add additional liquid.

BLONDE BROWNIES

2 1/2 cups brown sugar
3 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 cup chopped nuts
3 ounces chopped semi-sweet chocolate
1/2 tsp. salt

Beat eggs well. Add sugar gradually, beating until well mixed. Add vanilla. Sift flour and salt together and stir into egg mixture. Add nuts. Pour into well greased 9-12 1/2 x 2 1/2 inch pan. Sprinkle the chopped chocolate over the batter. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 25 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen squares 1 1/2 x 1 1/2 inches.

Fashion

FOR THE FIRST big football game of the season, Ramsey Ames, who will soon be seen in RKO's "Pan-American," wears a hard finish grey jacket suit, with its round-cut pocket and stitching giving it the dressmaker touch. Her black cloche is at home on the campus but quite well-mannered enough for a date. Note the black band around her throat, the knit gloves and the old cameo pin . . . all collegiate fashion news this fall—R. M.

Zanelli Brushes Up With Gotham Fight

By JACK CONWAY

Ralph Zanelli, Providence welterweight, will receive another opportunity to shoot for the fistic stars when he clashes with Jimmy McDaniels of California in a 10-round bout in the New York Garden tonight. McDaniels recently made a successful New York debut, and if Zanelli can defeat him the Providence thumper will be able to secure attractive ring engagements.

Zanelli now is signed to oppose Coley Welch of Portland in a 10-round bout at Ralph Zanelli Goodwin A. C. show at the Boston Garden on Sept. 22 and so he is anxious to score a decisive win tonight.

Zanelli lost to Hemmering Henry Armstrong early in the summer as he bid for national boxing fame. In justice to Zanelli, it must be stated he was not at his best in the Armstrong bout due to a death in his family. Since then Ralph has had ample opportunity to get into condition and he is expected to be at his best when he opposes McDaniels tonight.

Like other boxing promoters, Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century Club is having his troubles securing suitable matches. There is a dearth of boxing talent with most of the star mitt flingers in the service. Jacobs is hopeful that Zanelli and McDaniels will furnish stirring action so that the winner can be made a top card.

If it had not been for the numerous appearances of Beau Jack in the New York Garden, Jacobs would have had difficulties making his boxing promotions a success. Beau Jack is now in the Army and recently outscored Bob Montgomery in a bout to aid the sale of war bonds.

Ray Robinson to Box

Ray Robinson will soon start a series of bouts in which he will donate 20 per cent of his purses to the disabled veterans' fund of the Hearst Press. These matches will be run in co-operation with Mike Jacobs and promoters in Boston, Chicago and Detroit. Ten per cent of the gross receipts of each show will also go to the disabled veterans' fund.

Robinson has proved he is the best welterweight in the world. He will be unable to win the world's welterweight title until the war ends as Fred Cochrane, the champion, is in the Navy. Robinson himself was recently given an honorable discharge from the Army.

Robinson has agreed to clash with the best available opponents in the cities where he will appear. Ray has so much confidence in his ability he feels he is a cinch to beat all-comers. It is the first time since the days of the immortal John L. Sullivan that a national ring star like Robinson has undertaken a tour in which he has agreed to risk his chin against all-comers regardless of their ability.

Random Shots at Target

If the Red Sox lose their third out of four games of the series with the Yanks that opens today, even the most ardent rooster for Joe Cronin's club will have to admit they are a hopeless pennant contender. . . . The Sox and Yanks play singletons today and tomorrow and a twin bill Sunday. The form players now feel the Tigers will win the flag. . . . They believe their two great pitchers, Newhouse and Trout, will give them the edge over the Yanks who are considered their most serious rivals.

The Browns have found the going so rough in recent weeks it is not believed that even a long stay on their home grounds will be sufficient to enable them to win the pennant. . . . Baseball will benefit if the Browns lose. . . . It would have been very monotonous to have had an all-St. Louis series.

Frank Kingman says there are 150 horses at Brockton Fair Grounds ready for Monday's opening. . . . Jimmy Piccarillo, who helped out as racing secretary for a day at Northampton, is back at Brockton, and he expects to have eight attractive races each day. . . . There will be two more days of racing at Northampton. . . . Some of the Northampton horses will ship to Brockton, while others will journey to Great Barrington which will hold a six-day meeting Sept. 18-23.

Eagles Pick Up Old School Stars

Several candidates have been making an impression by their all-around play at the daily practice sessions of the Eagles at Alumni Field in preparation for the opening tilt with Harvard four weeks hence.

Ed Cronin, all-scholastic half back two years ago, has proven to be an adept ball handler, and having experience with the "T" formation seems to be in the fore-running for the quarterback position left vacant by Ed Doherty.

Several others including Joe Elliott of Belmont, Paul McGillicuddy, formerly of English, and John Callahan, Haverhill end, have turned in creditable performances.

Grid Jamboree Carded at Lynn

Schoolboy football fans will be getting their first peeks at their favorite grid teams tonight at Manning Bowl, Lynn, in a scrimmage jamboree which will find 10 teams participating in five games of 15-minute duration.

All proceeds will be turned over to the upkeep of the Bowl.

Pairings in this show, arranged by Bill Joyce so that no team would play a regular season scheduled rival, will pit Beverly vs. Lynn Classic; Salem vs. Lawrence; Everett vs. Peabody vs. Saugus and Lynn English vs. Swampscott in that order. The opener will get underway at 8 p. m. under the floodlights.

15-Year-Old Vet On Chelsea Team

A 15-year-old war veteran was a candidate today for the Chelsea High School football team.

He is Eddie Flaherty, a sophomore, who enlisted and spent six months in the Army before his age was discovered.

Flaherty is six feet one and weighs 145 lbs. in practice because Coach Henry McCarthy has been unable to find a pair of cleated shoes size 13.

Sox and Yanks Make Bid in Stirring Drama

By BILL GRIMES

Yesterday's and last night's sensational developments in the American League race combine to make the Red Sox-Yankee series which opens here today, with a single game, the most crucial since Ed Barrows' Red Sox team

YANDER MEER MISSING—When the sailors at Sampson, N. Y., put on a banquet for the major league ball players that did so well on the diamond, Johnny Vander Meer was missing. The former Reds star received his sailing orders for the Pacific the night before and Hal White of the Tigers (left) and Connie Ryan of the Braves reserved his seat and sent his present to Johnny's family.

Another Jenkins On Harvard Squad

It's been a long, long time since a Jenkins cavorted on Harvard's gridiron. Last we recall was Percy, from Quincy, famed all-round athlete of the '20's, who played halfback and end for Bob Fisher's elevens. He was a humdinger.

Now 20 years later there's a Bill Jenkins (no relation) who bids fair to equal Percy's athletic feats. Bill is a handsome, strapping lad who stands 6-3 and weighs 188. He was a standout athlete in football, track and basketball at Pekin, Ill., and he looks like one of the best prospects Henry Lamar has uncovered since Harvard went "infernal" last season. He's a wingback, a punter extraordinary and fast as a flash. He's one of the few rays of sunshine in Harvard's football picture.

Bill little thought a few months ago that he would be sporting Harvard's regalia. He was enrolled in the V-12 course at Tufts and took part in spring football. He was transferred to Harvard in the summer. Now instead of helping Lew Manly to greater glory, he'll be doing his best to defeat Tufts next week when the team opens the abbreviated college football schedule in the stadium.

Veterans of the BC game of '43 still at Harvard are backs Wally Trumbull and Paul Garrity, ends Rod Perkins, Dave Bresnahan, Rod Geeson, tackles Eddie Davis and Bill Sweeney, guard Wally Mroz. . . . Leading candidates for positions are: tackles Ted Woggon, Bud Thurman, Don Huber, Chester Pierce, Bill Shurtleff, Bill Sweeney, Howard Foster; centers Jim Crane, Dusty Rhodes, Ken Brown (converted from blocking back); guards Wally Mroz, Eddie Davis (shifted from tackle), Warren Proffoot, Clarence Hodge, Fred Garfield, Bob Jermick; ends Don Geeson, Dave Bresnahan, Rod Perkins, Dave McIntosh, Parker; tailbacks Eddie Navin, George O'Dea, Rusty Hankin; fullbacks Carl Lindblad, Paul Garrity, Bob Cowan; wingbacks Bill Jenkins, Dick Mausell, Brinkley; blocking backs Wally Trumbull, Jim MacDonald, George Trout, Bob Kennedy.

The "B" team will play at Exeter Sept. 23, Tufts "B" in the stadium on the 30th and at Andover Oct. 7. . . . Harvard was unable to find a local opponent for the 23rd. Chances are that the team will play late in October and early November if opponents can be obtained.

REFUND BETS

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—Wagers aggregating $26,087 on the fifth race were refunded to harness racing fans at the Roosevelt Raceway last night because of a faulty start.

1918.

As a result of the day's baseball output the St. Louis Browns now are back on top. The Tigers, despite their neat 3-0 win over Cleveland in the afternoon, are one full game behind the co-leaders. The inactive Red Sox, of course, remain three games back of the pace makers.

The big big thrust came in the afternoon when Dizzy Trout hung up his 24th win when he blanked Cleveland 3 to 0. Doc Cramer continued his sensational batting, with two more hits. Doc has hit safely in his last 10 games. He has totalled 24 safeties in 44 times at bat for the amazing average during that period, of .516.

BROWNS TRAILED 0-4

The league fireworks were reserved for last night in Chicago. The White Sox had the Browns hanging on the ropes 4-0 in the sixth. Then the deluge. The Browns scored two in the seventh.

In the ninth with the bases loaded and one out a sub first baseman, Outfielder Mike Chartak, singled to start the rally which eventually yielded Luke Sewell's team three runs and the ball game 5 to 4.

But to return to our own big local series:

Manager Joe Cronin will send Joe Bowman after the Yanks today. Since "Tex" Hughson's departure, Bowman has been the most reliable starting pitcher on Tom Yawkey's pay roll. True, he has had trouble finishing games because of the hot weather, but usually when he had to be relieved Joe departed with enough of an edge to make it comparatively easy for his successor to coast home.

PETE FOX TO PLAY

Manager Cronin, who hasn't been at Fenway Park since last Sunday, received some cheerful news when he arrived at his office this morning. Pete Fox has recovered from his back ailment and will occupy his right field berth this afternoon.

The Red Sox, however, will be without Bobby Doerr, who was the top ranking batter of the league, when he left the club last Sunday to drive to the coast and report for induction into the Army. The Sox will miss Bobby's hitting and his stellar defensive play but they are fortunate to have Jimmy Bucher to fall back on.

Now that the Yanks are or top, the experts are going off the deep end for Joe McCarthy. And, they should.

McCarthy was the first to realize that the squad he had at Atlantic City couldn't win a pennant in the Eastern League. So Marisa Joe put through a deal with his Newark farm club and brought up Pitchers Mel Queen, Floyd Bevens and Russ Berry. Then, he talked Casey Stengel into giving him Herschel Martin for big Ed Levy and a bundle of cash.

Undoubtedly, this Red Sox-Yankee series will establish a new attendance record for the season.

Practically all of the reserved seats have been sold for Sunday's double-header and according to the advance sales, the attendance figures for today and tomorrow will be close to the 20,000 mark.
